Application For Interdisciplinary Major Program

The Interdisciplinary Major Program is a special phenomenon within Amherst College that allows a student to create a customized major. Great wisdom is hidden within each department, but myriad things also emerge as students take courses spanning different departments.

As a student, you are charged with the responsibility for designing the required course load for your special major. For each of the five possible interdisciplinary majors you have submitted for approval, select the appropriate courses from different departments in the ideal order – one that ensures that each course is ideally linked to its preceding course.

Interdisciplinary Majors:

- 1) Postprandial Trophology
- 2) Underground Xenobiology
- 3) Interracial Metallurgical Studies
- 4) Multivariate Projectile Studies
- 5) Gender-Specific Theater Arts
